Claims Scenarios

- SaaS provider was under contract with a client for IT management services. A lawsuit was filed alleging breach of contract due to security issues that made the customers platform unusable resulting in financial loss.
- A developer was hired to customize software for a business to streamline their sales process and data entry. The code that was released to the client was rushed and buggy which caused damage to the sales software resulting in a loss of data. The contract was terminated and a claim was brought for negligence.
- MSP experienced a ransomware attack that rendered its system useless and encrypted data in hundreds of the client systems. The ransomware erased the backups, stopping restoration and the decryption key failed. The data had to be manually restored for many of the clients.
